

2017 Community Leader Healthcare Award

Dr. Daniel is a caring physician who's dedicated himself to ensuring that people have access to the care they need. The successful founder of The Exigence Group, which brought quality emergency room/urgent care service to previously un-served communities, he stresses the importance of innovation, and of taking action in every area of his life.

His clinics offered caring quality treatment to over 750,000 people, many of whom would have been otherwise shut out of the healthcare system. Through his charity, the Nyamekye Foundation, much of the giving is dedicated to providing access to appropriate healthcare for patients today, but also to funding research and providing scholarships for the doctors of tomorrow.

Greg recently became known nationally when his commitment to taking action and making a difference led him on a personal pilgrimage. He was so moved by an NBC story of a young girl, Chekina, who'd been orphaned by the conflict around her in Africa, he had to act. To make a difference for her, he used his connections and resources to find her, navigate several bureaucracies, and finally appeal to our government for intervention and support. In the end, he was able to officially adopt Chekina and bring her to WNY.

For his humanity, and for his commitment to providing quality healthcare to all those who need it, the NFJC is proud to present Dr. Greg Daniel with the 2017 Community Leader Award in Healthcare.
