

ThanThan Tway

ThanThan, a senior at Hutch Tech High School and JROTC Battalion Commander responsible for 180 cadets, has demonstrated strong leadership and character skills by leading her peers with meticulous attention to detail.

ThanThan has amassed over 400 community service hours by connecting with others while promoting inclusion, respect, and acceptance. She has participated in the Veteran's Day Ceremony, Puerto Rican Day Parade, Memorial Day Parade, as well as serving as President of her school's Donate Life Club and Peer Mediator. Her awards include, but are not limited to, National Honor Society, Jesse Ketchum Award, Daughters of the American Revolution Leadership Award, and the American Legion Military Excellence National Award. Living by the motto "team work gets things done", ThanThan has earned the respect and admiration of those around her while maintaining a balance of community, culture, family, and school.

For her team building skills, rising to the top of her class using a "follow me" approach to success, the NFJC is proud to present ThanThan Tway with the Community Leader Youth Award.
