The Episcopal Commission to Dismantle Racism and Discrimination

Founded in 2018, the mission and goals of the Commission are to promote greater understanding, training and practice of anti-racism, multi-cultural and anti-oppression principles, both by laity and clergy within the Episcopal church. The Episcopal church supports racial reconciliation in its spiritual practice of seeking loving, liberating, and life-giving relationships with God and one another. Since its inception, the Commission strives to heal and transform injustice and brokenness in its members, the community, institutions, and society. It has hosted and participated in several activities to address racial injustice and oppression, and it works to help Episcopalians understand the historic, systemic, and endemic nature of Racism.
